

CASE STUDY

Repowering London

Project Summary

Repowering London has become one of the sector's leading organisations. They create cooperatively owned renewable energy projects whose financial revenues stay with the local communities such as with Brixton Energy. The support Pure Leapfrog provided has supported the group to become self-sustaining and deliver a range of community energy projects

Project Detail

Pure Leapfrog and its network supported Repowering with its first project Brixton Energy 1. Repowering has since delivered its third project in Brixton and has ambitions to promote and facilitate the wide-scale development and local ownership of renewable energy projects across South London.

A portion of the revenue created through each project will be placed in its Community Energy Efficiency Fund (CEEF) to improve energy efficiency and alleviate fuel poverty in Brixton.

Pure Leapfrog engaged Simmons & Simmons to provide Repowering London with legal, business and financial advice which was fundamental in getting the scheme up and running. Pure Leapfrog also involved HSBC with the project in order to support Repowering London with their business model and financial planning.

“Pure Leapfrog has been an essential partner of Brixton Energy Solar 1 and preparing future Repowering South London initiatives, helping us to overcome significant challenges to ensure successful sustainable outcomes.”

Andre Pinho, Director, Repowering London

“Being able to assist Brixton Energy Solar 1 on this project has been a great experience.”

Ann-Marie Davies, Managing Associate at Simmons & Simmons

“I really enjoyed expanding my knowledge whilst being part of an initiative and getting done.”
